Subbu Subramanian

S.Subramanian is a professor at the Madras Institute of Development Studies, Chennai, India, currently visiting the World Institute of Development Economics Research, Helsinki, Finland. His principal areas of research interest are: social and economic measurement, development economics, and collective choice theory. He has edited or co-edited four books, and has research publications in journals like Journal of Development Economics, Social Choice and Welfare, Theory and Decision, and Economics and Philosophy.