

Louis-Marie Asselin

Ph. D. in development economics, mathematician-statistician. 30 years experience in Asia and Africa. Academic career at Laval University and Université Nationale du Rwanda. During twenty years director of a Study Unit, mostly a Poverty Study Unit, at the Canadian Centre for International Studies and Cooperation. Involved since 10 years in the MIMAP programme supported by IDRC (Canada). Senior statistician at the World Bank in the SDA programme, as a household survey methodologist. Has given numerous training sessions on Poverty Measurement and Analysis. Has worked in many African and Asian countries. Now retired, but still Associate Researcher at Laval University (CIRPÉE) and PDG of Institut de Mathématique Gauss. Consultant.