

IPC-IG launches new publications

The International Policy Centre for Inclusive Growth is pleased to announce a new set of Country Studies, Policy Research Briefs and three different One Pager. IPC-IG publications translated into Portuguese, Spanish and French also available exclusively on our website.

Brasília, 12 February 2010 - The country study "Assessing Administrative Capacity and Costs of Cash Transfer Schemes in Zambia", coordinated by Dennis Kaputo Chiwele, provides an assessment of the capacity of government structures in Zambia to implement a national social cash transfer scheme (SCTS).

The latest issue in the series of Policy Research Briefs, "Low-Cost Technologies towards Achieving the Millennium Development Goals: The Case of Rainwater Harvesting", by Christian Lehmann, Raquel Tsukada and Acácio Lourete, highlights the contribution of a low-cost water supply strategy for a number of the MDGs.

On the One Pager series, we have "Green Jobs for the Poor: Why a Public Employment Approach is Needed Now" prepared by Maikel Lieuw-Kie-Song and Radhika Lal. This one-pager outlines an economic rationale for promoting types of "green jobs" and the case for adopting a "public employment" approach in this regard. "Trends in South-South Cooperation", by Michelle L. Chang discusses the trends and pressing issues in the context of South-South Cooperation and the one-pager "Sustainable Agriculture: Way out of Food Poverty" by Tuya Altangerel highlights lessons from various developing countries.
